Preface. - Briefly, the status of our knowledge concerning this lesion is as follows: That the stomach does occasionally become enormously enlarged in the course of a very short time is an accepted fact. Our problems, therefore, in the study of the disease are etiological and pathological, and for their solution we must look to the data of cases observed, confirming when necessary by experimentation. Inasmuch as the condition is rare - our literature would lead us to this conclusion - and its origin obscure and varied, definite determinations are not logical in single cases or in small series; thus the report of one case is without merit except that it contributes to the mass of cases...
