Peace is about thee, steadfast peace that stills Our hearts from doubt--we know thy faith is true! The unborn years of God are all thy own, . . . let joyous courage keep thy soul, O Alma Mater, Let courage keep thy soul. --From the Ode. April 20, 1905. To the Students of Vanderbilt University. A great misfortune has overtaken us. In this crisis we must show, as we have never been called on to do before, our loyalty to Vanderbilt University and our steadfast faith in her future. I desire, first of all, to thank the students, one and all, for the great assistance rendered in saving all that was rescued from the main building. No more could have been done than was done. Instead of brooding over the past, let us at once turn our faces to the future, bravely meeting its demands and discharging faithfully our duties even under extreme difficulty. The work of the remainder of the session will proceed according to programme, with as slight interruption as possible. The laboratory work formerly carried on in University Hall will be transferred in part to the Medical and Dental buildings. Some sections which had wellnigh completed the work assigned for the year will be discontinued. Details in regard to this work will be announced within the next few days. Class work will be resumed at eight o'clock to-morrow morning. Our last class of to-day was in session when interrupted by the cry...
