Combined with the complexity of interpolat-variable and substantial ( relative to the low releases from ing and interpreting data from a different set of discharges on Sherburne Dam ) increases in discharge from the top to the each cross section, these considerations led us to abandon this bottom of the study reach. During this period, high runoff approach in favor of subsequent measurements in late summer in Boulder Creek ( relative to the low flows in Swiftcurrent under drier conditions when there was no significant surface Creek produced by low discharges from Sherburne Dam ) also inflow along the study reach. produced backwater effects elevating water surfaces at the two most downstream cross sections along Swiftcurrent Creek.
