Not illustrated. 1865 Excerpt: . . . years, Mrs. Hill laboured with him, gratuitously on her part, in evangelistic efforts for the benefit of the inhabitants of that city, and that not without great success--above one hundred persons in Bristol alone, attributing their conversion to the instructions of Mr. and Mrs. Hill. Her death on the 9th April, 1864, was a sudden one--not arising from the cause which had occasioned so much anxiety through life, but from a stroke of paraplexy four days previously, which deprived her of speech, and almost of consciousness. The perusal of this brief memoir will serve to stimulate the zeal, benevolence, and spirituality of our readers. Thf. Spring Bouquet. A Story for Easter. By M. A. G. London: William Macintosh, pp. 90. A Charming little book. It will be read with interest by every child, and can hardly fail of leaving a useful impression on the mind...
